

Revere Reports are an indispensable source of valuable information and analysis on topics ranging from healthcare events, competitor overviews, product pipeline analysis, supplier analysis and thousands of merger and acquisition scenarios. All Revere reports are powered by the Revere Hierarchy™ and most include a rich array of other Revere content sources, such as Revere Relationships™ and Revere Products™. Revere Reports are available on www.reveredata.com/reports/store or come bundled in our flagship Revere Research service. A sample of current reports (we're adding new Revere reports every few weeks) include:

- Revere Merger & Acquisition Scenario Reports – Presents the 'what if' scenarios for potential M&As with a detailed comparison of the companies' products and services, key relationships, key financials, and the resulting combined financials.
- Revere FDA Approval Decisions Reports – Tracks drugs with expected FDA approval decision dates (commonly known as PDUFA dates) in the next three months and uses Revere content to highlight their likelihood of approval and competitive landscape.
- Revere Biotech Pipeline Risk Reports – Features biotech companies with an attractive ratio of opportunity to risk based on a diversified late-stage drug portfolio built around proven technologies and strong strategic partners.
- Revere Drug/Medical Device Reports – Complete description of a biopharmaceutical or medical device company's product line, including classification within the Revere Hierarchy along with indications, side effects, and regulatory/clinical stage.
- Revere Competitor By Product Reports – Product-by-product analysis of a company's exact competitors, with trade names for each product. Includes revenue breakdown by operating division/business segment where available.
- Revere Company Profile Reports – Precision view of a company's business, including products and services as classified in the Revere Hierarchy. Also lists major competitors, customers, and partners, along with key financial data.
- Revere Supplier Risk Reports – Identifies upcoming earnings announcements from companies with suppliers who depend on them for at least 10% of total revenues.
- Revere Leaders & Laggards Reports – Highlights highly granular sub-sectors from deep within the Revere Hierarchy whose performance diverges significantly from the larger sectors and industries they're rolled into by other classification systems.
- Revere Build Your Own Reports – With Revere Research™, you can build thousands of different types of reports specifically tailored to your business needs....all at the click of a button.

Ask Revere and get answers in seconds!

- What would a combined Pfizer and Genentech look like?
- Who are the major competitors to AMD in the 32-Bit Non-Embedded Microprocessor sector?
- Which key Suppliers to Nokia would be impacted by an earning miss? Which Competitors may benefit?
- Who are the leading providers of diagnostic testing equipment in the Neurology sector?
- Which biotech companies have promising products coming to market in the near future? Which of these companies already have attractive distribution channels in place?
- Which Revere sectors are outperforming the broader benchmarks?